Job Descriptions

DEVELOPMENT, USE AND MAINTENANCE
Job Description Purposes

Serve as a building block for your organization by showing if all responsibilities are adequately covered.

Show the employee where they fit in
  ◦ A job’s description should align with the goals, vision and mission of your organization
  ◦ The employee should be able to visualize their place in the whole

Provide basis for compensation decisions

Provide basis for FLSA classification (exempt/non-exempt)
Job Description Purposes (cont.)

Tell candidates what your organization is looking for
- Help the organization in the selection process
- Helps address questions from those who are not selected

Help cover your organization’s legal bases
- Americans with Disabilities Act
- Equal Pay Act
- Title VII of the Civil Rights Act
- Occupational Safety and Health Act
- Age Discrimination in Employment Act
Some things to keep in mind...

Job descriptions become dated quickly!

- Ever changing demands in the workplace mean an employee’s duties can change.
- Reviewing job descriptions as part of the annual performance review process is highly recommended.

Job descriptions can lead to “that’s not my job” thinking.

- Keep descriptions flexible enough to allow thinking “outside the box”.
- Allow for cross training and additional duties (within reason).

Poorly written job descriptions may be used against you.

- Trying to list every task that will occur
- Being too broad leading to inaccurate portrayal of duties
Contents of a Job Description

• Title
  • Communicates the level, responsibility and type of work.
  • Use titles that are common in your industry.

• Classification (FLSA status)
  • Exempt or nonexempt.

• Salary Grade/Level/Family/Range
  • What the position is paid.

• Reports to
  • Title of position this job reports to, not name of current manager.
Contents of a Job Description (cont.)

- Date
  - Date the job description was created or last reviewed.

- Summary/Objective
  - Summary of overall objective of the position.

- Essential Functions
  - List essential functions.
  - Explain how the person is to perform them, including frequency of task(s).

- Competencies
  - Knowledge, skills and abilities required to do the job.

• Supervisory Responsibilities (if any)

• Work Environment
  • Describe the working environment (e.g., outside, indoors, noise level, lighting, other work conditions).

• Physical Demands
  • Describe the physical demands of the job (e.g., bending, sitting, kneeling, lifting, driving)

• Position Type and Expected Hours of Work
  • Explain if the job is full time or part time, and give the days and hours expected to be working.

• Other Duties
  • Please note this job description is not designed to cover or contain a comprehensive listing of activities, duties or responsibilities that are required of the employee for this job. Duties, responsibilities and activities may change at any time with or without notice.

• Signatures
  • Manager.
  • HR representative.
  • Employee.
Making the best use of a job description

Review the job description with employees at their orientation
  ◦ Expectations for duties should be made clear
  ◦ Describe how job duties support the organization

Review job description during annual performance review
  ◦ The performance review should be focused on the job duties
  ◦ Discuss changes, provide clarification, set goals
  ◦ Review for any needed training

Review during any performance improvement discussion
  ◦ What specifically is not being done or being done inadequately?
  ◦ What is the impact on the organization?
Best Practices

Use the same format for all job descriptions
- Speeds creation of new job descriptions
- Easier to audit

Consider an FLSA classification audit
- Having an employee incorrectly classified can lead to penalties
- Review each exempt classification type carefully to ensure duties fit the definition

When filling a new position, have the description developed before recruiting
